INCIDENT COMMAND FOR PUBLIC HEALTH TRAINING

Designed for public health professionals, this course will help you and your agency respond to crisis situations that require interaction with other local, state and federal partners. This course applies basic Incident Command System concepts to public health, and it contains public health-related content and case studies.

Note: Participants will have the option to take the official Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) IS-100 test at the end of the course. Those who pass will receive a FEMA certificate of completion in the mail. This will certify them in ICS-100 and allow them to take ICS-200 (Basic Incident Command System).

Learning Objectives

- Describe the Incident Command System (ICS) and its effectiveness in public health;
- Utilize ICS and Unified Command in public health all-hazards incidents; and
- Promote agency and interagency cooperation, coordination and communication at all-hazards incidents.

Registration

Pre-registration is required for this course. Please complete and mail/fax the separate application form by the RSVP deadline that corresponds to the session you wish to attend.

Registration after this deadline cannot be guaranteed. Please contact Judith Chevarley with questions at (617) 983-6800. Training sessions are free of charge and light meals will be served.
